Art Unit: 1761

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 4-12 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-7 of U.S. Patent No. 6623777B2. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the application and the patent involve a bread product made from a dough composition comprising flour, rice koji and vitamin C. The claims of the patent are directed to a method of serving customers with a bread food product made from the dough composition. It would have been obvious to distribute the bread product of instant claims 1-10 for commercial distribution. It would also have been obvious to make the premix of claims 11-12 into bread dough product for commercial distribution. It is notoriously well known in the art to sell premix or dough product made from such premix.

Art Unit: 1761

Claims 1 and 4-12 are free of prior art because the prior art does not disclose dough product or flour premix comprising rice koji and vitamin C in the amounts claimed.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Kizawa et al disclose a barm for bakery product comprising koji.

Redding, Jr. discloses seeded microcapsules.
